

Wake Up the Mountain

Halloween

Some people die and even never realize
Man's growin' blind, is seein' only with the eyes
We think we're strong believe we never could be wrong
But we are fools because we're dyin' by the rules Though I cannot change the world we're livin' in
I can always change myself, oh One more to count in, wake up the mountain
All color's slowly turnin' to gray
All world is darklin', wake up the mountain
And we will find it once more again Cash and careers built on the countless sums of fears
All good of life begin to vanish behind tears
How do we know, why did we choose the way we follow?
Why do we hurt, why do we hurt the ones we love? Though I cannot change the world we're livin' in
I can always change myself, oh One more to count in, wake up the mountain
All color's slowly turnin' to gray
All world is darklin', wake up the mountain
And we will find it once more again
Once more again We make the rules and we can change them
Break down the orders one by one
We make the laws and we can break them
Break down the mountain, stone by stone by stone by stone by stone One more to count in, wake up the mountain
All color's slowly turnin' to gray
All world is darklin', wake up the mountain
And we will find it once more again
Once more again, once more again
