To Bid You Farewell

Opeth

I am awaiting the sunrise
Gazing modestly through the coldest morning
Once it came you lied
Embracing us over autumn's proud tree topsI stand motionless
In a parade of falling rain
Your voice I cannot hear
As I am falling againDevotion eludes
And in sadness I lumber
In my own ashes
I am standing without a soulShe wept and whispered, "I know"We walked into the night
Am I to bid you farewell?
Why can't you see that I try
When every tear I shed, is for you?
