Deep Blue Heart

John Mellencamp

Daylight is leaving and the night is closing in
In just a few hours, the sleeplessness begins again
My head feels thick and I'm unable to think
I guess, I'll wait 'til tomorrow and see what it bringsI have a little hope left and I guess that's someplace to start
But my memory's full of a deep blue heartMy fun loving sense of humor is nowhere to be found
I stare into my own eyes with tears flowing down
I'd sing out a song but I've forgotten the tune
And the words now escape me but I think it's about youMy vision now is way out in the dark
With just a little sight left of a deep blue heartI see us both flying in the clear blue sky
Floating out on the ocean with the sun in our eyes
Caught in a moment, just me and you
In complete honesty, where everything is trueThat's what I wanted to believe, right from the start
Just a little place for myself in your deep blue heart
Carve out a place for myself in your deep blue heart
