If The Moon Fell Down

Chase Coy

Every time I see your smile
It makes my heart beat fast
And though it's much too soon to tell
I'm hoping this will last'Cause I just always wanna have you
Right here, by my side
The future's near but never certain
So please stay here for just tonightI must have done something right
To deserve you in my life
I must have done something right
Along the wayI just can't get you off my mind
And why would I even try
'Cause even when I close my eyes
I dream about you all the timeI just always wanna have you
Right here, by my side
The future's near but never certain
At least stay here for just tonightI must have done something right
To deserve you in my life
I must have done something right
Along the wayAnd even if the moon fell down tonight
There'd be nothing to worry about at all
Because you make the whole world shine
As long as you're here everything will be alrightI must have done something right
To deserve you in my life
I must have done something right
Along the way
