Oh My God

Kaiser Chiefs

Time on your side that will never end The most beautiful thing you can ever spend But you work in a shirt with your name tag on it Drifting apart like a plate tectonicIt don't matter to me 'Cause all I wanted to be Was a million miles from here Somewhere more familiarToo much time spent dragging the past up I didn't see you not looking when I messed up Settling down in your early twenties Sucked more blood than a backstreet dentistIt don't matter to me 'Cause all I wanted to be Is a million miles from here Somewhere more familiarAnd oh my God, I can't believe it I've never been this far away from home And oh my God, I can't believe it I've never been this far away from homeAnd oh my God, I can't believe it I've never been this far away from home And oh my God, I can't believe it I've never been this far away from homeGreat rulers make for greater glory The only thing growing is our history Knock me down, I'll get right back up again I'll come back stronger than a powered up Pac-ManIt don't matter to me 'Cause all I wanted to be Was a million miles from here Somewhere more familiarAnd oh my God, I can't believe it I've never been this far away from home And oh my God, I can't believe it I've never been this far away from homeAnd oh my God, I can't believe it I've never been this far away from home And oh my God, I can't believe it I've never been this far away from homeAnd oh my God, I can't believe it I've never been this far away from home And oh my God, I can't believe it I've never been this far away from homeAnd oh my God, I can't believe it I've never been this far away from home And oh my God, I can't believe it I've never been this far away from
