Men for Miles

Ought

Don't freeze up
You gotta breath
Yeah you're a good apple
Now shake it, shake it, shake it, go
It's a shame that
We would have to go there
Eventually I'll wave while you run off
If your dirt is in a jar
That's where shit is gonna grow
If I'm being honest
Who would want to live here
Fourteen clocks
And half as many rooms
Slip off, slip off, slip off, slip off
Get lost
Your dark side
You find it
There's nothing here, boys
The monument
You climb it
And what did you see? What did you see?
What did I see? What did I see?
When I set off I found that
[Chorus x2]
There were men for miles
There were men for miles
And doesn't it just bring a tear to your eye, yeah
A tear to your eye, a tear to your eye [x4]
When it comes in now
Am I gonna be ready
For I know you lie
Can't I give you any...[?]
Go!
Excuse me, is there a window?
Do you have a light?
Shake it, shake it, shake it
Get down tonight
Excuse me, would you say there's a chance
Of bringing this whole fucker down?

Get down
It came with Instructions
It's neither here nor there
The monument
You climbed it
And what do you see?What did you see?
What did I see? What did I see?
Well certainly you could say that
[Chorus x2]
There were men for miles
There were men for miles
And doesn't it just bring a tear to your eye, yeah
A tear to your eye, a tear to your eye [x4]
A tear to your eye, a tear to your eye [x4]
Get off the ground
Are you gonna be ready?
When you see who we are
When you're looking in the eye
And you're going inside
It's mine, mine
When you're looking in the sky
You think that the stars are jerking
The stars are jerking
My feet are tired
But I'm feeling ready, feeling ready
And when I'm gonna stay
It's my decision, my decision
The starry eyes, in flames
For a star, it's the same
[?]

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/