

No Matter What Goes Right

Trout Fishing In America

(K. Grimwood/E. Idlet)

If the mountains never crumble,
And the rivers don't run dry,
The oceans keep on pounding,
The sun stays in the sky;
If apples keep on falling,
And three and two is five,
I'll still be loving you
No matter what goes right.
If the world keeps on turning,
And snow keeps falling white,
Fire keeps on burning,
And daylight follows every night;
If flowers bloom in springtime,
And birds remember how to fly,
I'll still be loving you
No matter what goes right.
No matter what goes right,
I'll still be loving you;
No matter what goes right,
I will stand by you.
And when couples fight their troubles,
It unites their hearts,
When the good times roll,
They can drift apart;
I'll still be loving you
No matter what goes right.
When all this work is over,
And my ship comes sailing in,
You'll always be my lover,
You'll always be my friend.
If the stars up in the heavens
Keep on shining clear and bright,
I'll still be loving you,
No matter what goes right.
No matter what goes right,
I'll still be loving you;
No matter what goes right,
I will stand by you.

And when couples fight their troubles,
It unites their hearts,
When the good times roll,
They can drift apart;
I'll still be loving you
No matter what goes right.
No matter what goes right,
I'll still be loving you;
No matter what goes right,
I'll still be loving you
No matter what goes right.
I will stand by you.

And when couples fight their troubles,
It unites their hearts,
When the good times roll,
They can drift apart;
I'll still be loving you
No matter what goes right.
