

Never Fail

The Strand

It feels it's so impossible to know. Everything comes and goes
Like a writhing snake that slips away
History is intolerant to any change you'd like to make
Deep dark bitter guise what do you visualize in the dead of night
Disguise your face and slip away, to mull over better times putting these to waste

One life we fall again and I'll never fail you
One life we fall again and I will never fail again
One life we fall again and I'll never fail you
One life we fall again and I will never fail again
Never fail you. Never fail. Never fail you, I will never fail
I will never fail again. I will never fail. I will never fail again. I will never fail

Feast on logic or symbolic god shit, if it gets you there
Ego; massage it, you've gotta dodge it if it gets you there
Tattered shoelace, discarded traces of colored hair
Empty your crawlspace, right in the fireplace if it gets you there, if it gets you there
