Drawing Board

Mest

I can recall only this one time
This kind of control the girl had on my mind
I've fallen deep, I can't get out
I've never acted this way beforeI spent days and nights in my bedroom
Trying to write the perfect song to sing to you
Write a song a day, but she won't like it anyway
Back to the drawing board
With the words you've heard a million times beforeFeeling alone and she's on my mind
Try to erase all the pain from that time
She's breaking up and I'm breaking down
Now I'm headed out of this fucked up townI spent days and nights in my bedroom
Trying to write the perfect song to sing to you
Write a song a day, but the band won't like it anyway
Back to the drawing board
With the words you've heard a million times before
In your headSo love me, so I can be myself again
Now hate me, so things seem normal in my head
I'm trying to break away this ball and chain
So hate me, so things seem normal in my head
Things seem normal in my headI spent days and nights in my bedroom
Trying to write the perfect song to sing to youI spent days and nights in my bedroom
Trying to write the perfect song to sing to you
Write a song a day, but she won't like it anyway
Back to the drawing board
With the words you've heard a million times before
In your head, I am deadBack to the drawing board
With the words you've heard a million times before
Back to the drawing board
With the words you've heard a million times before

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/