

No Heart

Crossley Hunter

Never thought time would be standing in line
A phantom in my thoughts
But it's a new world as I'm lost in my reflection
We carry these lies like a burning disguise searing at both ends
It's a blue world when I'm thinking 'bout perfection And there's no heart We turn on these lights and we never can find the life we thought we'd lived
It's a cruel world when you live without intention Buried inside this subliminal mind a coffin laced with lead Lies a true world, it's lost in our potential And I know what we're meant to be I'm told what to try to be
And if we make it in our own time won't you bring me back to life
Oh it's all for show now
Bring me back to life
