The House That Mercy Built

Point Of Grace

A light in the distance welcomes those
Wayfaring souls come this far
A heart grows tired, faith grows cold
Wandering down the winding road
Just simply knock, the door will open
There is a house that mercy built
There is a place where brokenness is healed
There is a voice saying, "Peace be still"
There is a house that mercy built
Mercy will find you though you've given up
In the middle of what seems like nowhere
He'll shelter you beneath His wing
His love will cover every need
Just simply seek and you will find
There is a house that mercy built
There is a place where emptiness is filled
There is a voice saying, "Peace be still"
There is a house that mercy built
There is a house that mercy built with blood and tears
We've nothing left to fear we live in grace
Here in the safe embrace of God, the mercy of God
There is a house that mercy built
There is a place where grace has been revealed
There is a voice saying, "Peace be still"
There is a house that mercy built
Rest in the hope, rest in the peace
There is a house that mercy built
