

My Way Home

Jessica Simpson

We've all been down a dusty road
Trying to see around the bend
In search of something
Lots of faces, different places
Emptiness has settled in
And then I saw him I'm the lover of a soul
Deep inside this man I know
I will give it all and let go Envision a picture-perfect world
As you focus in the lens
Fairytale begins
Now I'm so happy that I found you
I just want to break down and cry
And laugh, and hug and kiss I'm the lover of a soul
Deep inside this man that I know
I will give it all and let go
Through his eyes, I'll find my way home He can take me to heaven
That's why I need him, why I want him
There's no one I'd rather love
No other can touch him
I will promise you all I am I'll find my way home I will give it all and let go
