

You're So Clever

Pete Townshend

You're so clever, so smooth and debonair
You're so clever and you never seem to have a care
You grew unclustered by storms or humid sticky weather
Oh, you're so clever, oh You're so different and a thousand in the red
You're so instant, snap your finger and light for my cigarette
I been busted by your charm when we're together
Oh, you're so clever, oh yeah I mean it, you're so perfect
You always choose the big ones
I seen you on the dance floor
And you keep that perfect time There's no one I want but you
I mean forever
I mean forever
You're so clever Oh, you're a genesis
Everything that ever gets me hot
I'm reeling, you cause my nemesis
You're everything I want and all I got There's no one I want but you
And I mean forever
I mean forever
You're so clever You're so open, so straight, but never plain
So gently spoken, I'm not joking, your smile can stop the rain
I'm going to muster strength and chase you ever leather
You're so clever, oh yeah You, you're so clever
Yes, you, you're so clever
Yes, you, you're so clever
Yes, you, you're so clever
