

Relentless Intolerance

Demon Hunter

These eyes, they will gaze and reflect
And gauge every thought I reject
Now sway of stance in changing times
Just a narrow mind commanding respectWe stand on the words of the wise
And languish every call to despise
We know the hollow side of their liesNo reformed edition, never losing vision
Now into forever, only getting better
Ways of now, spiral down
How much more we allowKeeping sight of the vow we made
Never changing
Holding fast to the hope
Never losing groundSo when we stand in the line of wrath
Never changing
True and righteous will know
Never losing groundThe foundations that we used to uphold
Now regarded as the madness of old
Every alteration made to the standard of truth
Is a nail in the coffin we holdWe embody everything they despise
'Cause they see us through degenerate eyes
So when they cast you down as intolerant filth
Stand firm, never bow to the liesNo reformed edition, never losing vision
Now into forever, only getting better
Ways of now, spiral down
How much more we allowKeeping sight of the vow we made
Never changing
Holding fast to the hope
Never losing groundSo when we stand in the line of wrath
Never changing
True and righteous will know
Never losing groundSee the scorn inside my eyesNo reformed edition, never losing vision
Now into forever, only getting betterKeeping sight of the vow we made
Holding fast to the hopeSo when we stand in the line of wrath
Never changing
True and righteous will know
Never losing groundKeeping sight of the vow we made
Never changing
Holding fast to the hope
Never losing groundSo when we stand in the line of wrath
Never changing

True and righteous will know
Never losing ground
