

Deceit

Vildhjarta

For many years I put my trust in you
Perceiving the vows I took that were true
Only to learn all had been lost to you To search for meanings not truly there
Answers to questions only bring despair
Distractions down the path of our lives Unforgiving Was there a point to nine years we had Selfish thoughts leave you undesirable
Part of me was severed that very day In the wake of confusion I search, looking
For the answers to questions only reveal
