

The Silver Cloud's Dark Lining

Skyclad

Sailing of the century - a human life raft floating the jaws of the void approaching - growing closer by the hour Played lottery with destiny - could not believe you'd lose Collect your one-way ticket for "the Good Ship Earth's" last cruise
So play today
go make your hay beneath a warm sun shining
But bear in mind one day you'll find the silver cloud's dark lining Poor general intelligence - all that is rank promoted Distended bellies bloated - gorged on candy-coated lies Though honest as the day is long - dark nights are drawing in yet for one grow tired of this - a devil sick of sin
So play today
go make your hay beneath a warm sun shining
But bear in mind one day you'll find the silver cloud's dark lining
Stand in line and pay your dime, to watch
Atlantis rising
When do you'll see right through to the silver cloud's dark lining Oblivion comes calling - expel your last breath praying
Hear the hounds of Hades baying - find there's nowhere left to run Across the fence midst greener grass a serpent winks his eye for each of us he's baked a slice of home made apple-pie!
So play today
go make your hay beneath a warm sun shining
But bear in mind one day you'll find the silver cloud's dark lining Played lottery with destiny - could not believe you'd lose
Collect your one-way ticket for "the Good Ship Earth's" last cruise
So play today
go make your hay beneath a warm sun shining
But bear in mind one day you'll find the silver cloud's dark lining
Stand in line and pay your dime, to watch
Atlantis rising
When do you'll see right through to the silver cloud's dark lining
