

So Long, For Now

A Burning Century

So long for now ~ A Burning Century

I was a bird on the wing
You were an open sky
I've never known such a thing
And it felt like heaven to fly

But oceans have come between us
And silence rolls in like a storm
Others are waiting to meet us
Soft with a touch so warm

It's freedom from falling
Soaring and calling out
So long
The end of a story
Baby we take our bow
And so long, for now

But I will keep you a place
Stay as long as you like
I'll never tell
I'd not felt it before I met you
It changed me
I'll never tell

So how does a bird forget flying
And why would a fish hate the sea
And I'll never lose you darling
You're in my memory

Maybe if I stop trying
Maybe if I sit still
You'll come back to me somehow
Either way I wish you well

It's freedom from falling
Soaring and calling out
So long
The end of a story

Baby we take our bow
And so long, for now

For now

I will keep you a place
Stay as long as you like
I'll never tell
I'd not felt it before I met you
It changed me
I'll never tell»;

Lyrics Submitted by TaliaLove

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>