Unrepeatable

Daniel Kirkley

Heart without a home, desperate to belong
You haven't been forgotten
Poet with no voice, singer with no song
Silence borne of sorrow, can you hear God whisper?Nowhere else is there another like you
Rare and beautiful is how He made you
Irreplaceable is how He sees youYou're everything that He could dream
Exactly who you were meant to be
You're unrepeatableFingerprint of God, precious child you are Lovingly created
All that makes you laugh, all that makes you cry
All the hope that stirs within you is God callingNowhere else is there another like you
Rare and beautiful is how He made you
Irreplaceable is how He sees youYou're everything that He could dream
Exactly who you were meant to be
You're unrepeatable, you're unrepeatableI'm praying that you'll see (I'm praying that)
And one day you'll believe thatNowhere else is there another like you
Rare and beautiful is how He made you
Irreplaceable is how He sees youYou're everything that He could dream
Exactly who you were meant to be
You're unrepeatable, you're unrepeatable
