The Visit

Kal David

My watch said it was a quarter to two
But it was really getting closer to four, yeah
When I laid my head down easy
When somebody knocked at my door
I don't know just what I expected
But it was more than I bargained for,oh yeah
There stood the devil at the foot of my bed
And I fell out on the floor
Well his skin was the color of fire
He had a voice like a lions roar. oh oh yeah
He said you'll never see your baby again
Cause you ain't goin home any more, lord have mercy
When your telephone call saved the day
I was awakened by the bell, yeah
And it ain't the first time that you saved this man from hell, all right

Lyrics Submitted by Wayne Fogleman

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/