Star Sickness

Miaoux Miaoux

I've got a right fist ready to open
You've got a kiss all ready to go
And there's a lightness in your inflection
Ive got a mind a weight of a stone
I hear about your brilliant progress
I read about your genius work
And in my head there's screaming and shouting
I gotta make these voices explode

Louder than you
Louder than you
Louder than you
Louder than you
Louder than you
Louder than you
Louder than you

Out at the deepest point of the ocean
Whatever comes is never enough
All of it starts so equal and perfect
And spill a darkness over the love
Come to the surface make a connection
Forget the need to go it alone
We go beyond a physical boundary
Sharing the stress and making the load

Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you

Lighter in you
Lighter in you

Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you

I see a light, I see your reflection
I see the start of something I want
As of today this sickness is over
I get the point of where I belong
Come on and grab my hand if you're lonely
Come on and get me over the hill
And I will help in making it all

Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you

Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you

Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
Lighter in you
