Mask

Tyrolin Puxty

I'm wearing my mask daily and nightly
Which fits me ever, ever so rightly
It never comes off, you never see my face
It's the thing that keeps me in place
I'm laughing with you, hiding my feelings
Every single thought, I'm concealing
If you really knew me I think you'd agree
That you've fallen in love with the mask

The things that I do
The things that I say
Are all a disguise
Some of which I despise

You think I look like you
You think I act like you
You think our thoughts are the same
But I'm really not that mundane

I'm wearing my mask every single day
It's growing heavy, it's my pain
I want to breathe and rid the mask
Because I feel it taking over me

The way that I act
The way I converse
Is my new persona
Because lucky me, I'm the mask

I hate my mask but I put it on
Glued it to my face just for fun
Now it is me
And I am it
A clone of everyone else
Ba da da da da da da da da.
