

Muffin

S

You are in my dreams still
But not for ever and ever
You say everything's just fine
This hasn't changed you at all I can see right through that smile
I know you hate all your friends
I thought it could only be you
But you are not the same And i always knew
This would never be
Who could ever really love me
Thought about what you said
Over and over and over again
These memories they don't seem right
This will not change me at all I never thought we would be here
I never thought that you would come back
This is not how it should end
And you are not the same And I always knew
This would never be
Who could ever really love me
I am hanging up this phone
Forget you've ever been here
I am taking back my heart
I will not save you
