

Warren's Song Pt. 15

Bracket

you see me through wear and tear and your love comes without a warning you bring me to life everyday shaping my doubts your reassurance is delicate your words form a lieI'm so sorry for what I have become if you love me, you can love anyonecan I live inside your world and find solace in your affection in this foicle (?) life

I can still picture your breath it's singing like a symphony can I hear you tonightI'm so sorry for what I have become if you love me, you can love anyoneyou are what I need today you are leaving me somedayI'm so sorry for what I have become if you love me, you can love anyone

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlrics.com/>