

Some Boys

Alix Dobkin

Only one,
Maybe there's no harm done.
But more than two,
Like as not, they're allowed to get you.
And the more there are
The more they want
And the more they take
The more they hate you
The more they hate you

Well, you may say "Love"
You may say "A woman's desire"
But power says,
"Just make sure you give him pleasure"
And the more you give
The more they need
And the more they take
The more they hate you
The more they hate you

Every day,
Worlds of devastation.
Is nothing safe
From their coercion, their erections?
And the more they rape
And penetrate
And the more you ache
The more they hate you
The more they hate you

Well, I'm sick and tired
Of violence and cruel ways.
Well, don't you just hate
Living with these damned outrages?
And the more they spoil
And the more they steal
And the more they take
The more they hate you
The more they hate you

The more they hate youâ€™
