Long Road

Lust & Lies

You got a sense of wonder
Yeah, you dip your toes in it all
Another place, another face
Each time you hear the call

Situations in my mind play on
I know it's wrong
I should be leaving yesterdays
Way back where they belong

I hope someday you find
A place that you can call your own, oh yeah
And though I'd love to hear your voice
I just can't call you on the phone

People think you're crazy
But they just don't know your type
Never one to get your way other than how you like
Never one to ramble on and always on your way
And even though you come around I know you'll never stay

The birds drank all the wine
And now they won't leave me alone, oh no
I'll lose you on my pride, I never wanted you to go

Take the long road, read the signs
I know what you're running from
All you left behind
And I, can't shake the feelin'
That it's just what I'm needin'
To make another deal tonight

You come around, I can't hide long
You know I should be strong
Always one to take your time
But never to stay long
Always one to speak your mind
And always one to play
And when tomorrow's yesterday

Again you've gone away

Take the long road, read the signs
I know what you're running from
All you left behind
And I, can't shake the feelin'
That it's just what I'm needin'
To make another deal tonight

Take the long road, read the signs
I know what you're running from
All you left behind
And I, can't shake the feelin'
That it's just what I'm needin'
To make another deal tonight, yeah
