

The Wreck of the Barbie Ferrari

John Hiatt

Saturday night he comes home stinkin'
Sunday mornin' she wakes up thinkin'
And thinkin' and thinkin' and thinkin'
Does she need to get the kids dressed to go to church?
He's pulled a shotgun out of the lurch
He heads for the TV room and starts to search
His problems swollen like a river and his reality's shrinkin'
He finds them huddled by the toy box and splatters 'em all
The ken and the midge and the skipper doll
They look like a family but they're really not at all Well he's sad but he ain't sorry
It ain't the end of the world
It's just the wreck of the barbie Ferrari He wonders if he ever said "I do"
To that little blonde plastic voodoo
And his mind's gone fishin'
Well it started just as plain as the nose on your face
Now it's in a thousand pieces all over the place
He thought she was drivin' but it's twisted beyond recognition
All the diapers and the tutus and the basketballs
She was givin' them a lift to the promised mall
But somewhere by the TV that V twelve stalled
As he loaded the chamber her eyes got starry It ain't the end of the world
It's just the wreck of the barbie Ferrari
It's just the wreck of the barbie Ferrari
It's just the wreck of the barbie Ferrari When they get home from church, won't they be sorry?
He's cornered 'em all on his urban safari
It ain't the end of the world
It's just the wreck of the barbie Ferrari He's played with cars and guns since he could crawl
Now he wishes he'd never met that doll with her face gone
There wasn't nothing he ever thought about
He couldn't drive through or shoot his way out
As he surveys the family room littered with dolls
He can't find one leg to stand on
He aims the gun at his head now he's startin' to cry
Lookin' for the courage to let it fly
Can't live without his family now that something has died
He's not sure who's hurt, not sure who's sorry It ain't the end of the world
It's just the wreck of the barbie Ferrari
It's just the wreck of the barbie Ferrari
It's just the wreck of the barbie Ferrari

It's just the wreck of the barbie FerrariWhat he said what he ain't sorry

It ain't the end of the world

It's just the wreck of the barbie Ferrari
