Everything's Broken

The O.C. Supertones

When my heart is aching
It's the right time, it's the right time
And my soul is reaching
It's the right, it's the rightTime to dive deep to understand
There is an Adam in every man
This was my garden and I made it die
It's asking me whyBut I see tears in all things, everything is broken
I hear them crying, everything is broken
There was a time when the truth didn't have to be spoken
But now everything's brokenThis is my confession
It's about time, it's about time
Of the world's condition
It's about time, it's aboutTime that you see my glory and shame
This world fell through me
But out of flames will rise a new earth
From death will come birth, a cure to the curseBut I see tears in all things, everything is broken
I hear them crying, everything is broken
There was a time when the truth didn't have to be spoken
But now everything's brokenI live in frustration
And it is mine and it is mine
Watch my garden dying
And it is mine and it isI gave it death and I brought it hell
And there grew a cross to mark where I fell
A day will come when Adam again will pay for my sinsBut I see tears in all things, everything is broken
I hear them crying, everything is broken
There was a time when the truth didn't have to be spoken
But now everything's broken

Songwriters
Matthew Evan MorginskyPublished by
WE OWN YOUR SONGS PUBLISHING;SUPERTONES SONGS

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/