That's What Love Is All About

Poco

She could pack her things and slip away
Save her pride for another day
He could go on pretendin'
He's said, all there is to sayThat if love is never ending
When broken hearts need mending
They find a way to hold on to
What matters most of allThere are no rules, there are no truths
No reason, there's no rhyme
There's just your heart, to see you through
It tells you every timeAnd when you feel it down deep inside
Without a doubt
That's what love is
That's what love is all aboutOh, it's a crazy world and she knows it
She knows how the pieces fit
All the things that they've been through
They're too hard to forgetBut if love is never ending
When broken notes need mending
They find a way to hold on to
What matters most of allThere are no rules, there are no truths
No reason, there's no rhyme
There's just your heart, to see you through
It tells you every timeAnd when you feel it down deep inside
Without a doubt
That's what love is
That's what love is all aboutSo, she'll have a little faith
And hold on a little harder
'Cause she knows just what it takes
And that's what love has taught herThere are no rules, there are no truths
No reason, there's no rhyme
There's just your heart, to see you through
It tells you every timeAnd when you feel it down deep inside
Without a doubt
That's what love is
That's what love is all aboutThat's what love is
That's what love is all about
