

Asleep

Ceremony

I've given up too many nights, in hopes to hide away with sleep.

I'm running from my enemy, but still she drags me by the feet.

Fuck days when I can't find the time, or even care to open my eyes.

I drill the clock into the wall.

Pass hours until I'm wrinkled thin.

Nightmares seem to follow me, it's getting hard to remember my dreams.

If I stay awake tonight I'll gain much more than growing old.

Now each eyelid shut, I'm giving in but never giving up.

Wake up
