Still Be Losing You

Randy Rogers Band

Does everybody know that im to blame
None of you friend up in Fort Worth even know my name
But even if I tried, well if i tried to be true
If I'd walk a line, I'd still be losin youTell me what you think i should do Cause i just cant understand you
Im about to speak my mind
Even if its a waste a timeEverybody knows that Im to blame none of your friends even know my name
Even if i tried to be true
If I'd walk a line, I'd still be losing youNow you act like you still care
Even though you know its not fair
You still call me on the telephone Only when you're all aloneEverybody knows that Im to blame
none of your friends even know my name
Even if i tried to be true
If I'd walk a line, I'd still be losing youWe both know we let a good thing go to waste My bags a packed now, Ill be on my way (adios)Everybody knows that Im to blame none of your friends even know my first name
Even if i tried to be true
If I'd walk a line,Everybody knows that Im to blame none of your friends even know my dogs name
Even if i tried to be true
If I'd walk a line, I'd still be losing you
If I'd walk a line, I'd still be losing you

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/