In and Out of Sight

The Horrors

Today is made of silences and oh, and the time between them
But why should I still try to prove it all, if you don't believe it
The world is silent, made for us, the words are mine to say
What's the use in trying, when you know if you don't believe it
Hear your world beginning, as the days divide
See the dawn birds flying in and out of sight
I can heard the music play, maybe I will love you still
I can see you mystery lifted high against the moon
I can hear what you don't say, maybe I will love you still
I can see you spirit lifted high against the moon
Hear your world beginning as the days divide
See the dawn birds flying in and out of sigth
Hear your world beginning as the days divide
See the dawn birds flying in and out of sight
