The Truth Of My Perception

As I Lay Dying

While shutters enclose the boundaries
Of my heart, I hold my breath
Till the steady, beating is shut out
In silence I wait for what is real
For I know the truth of my perception
Nothing in life matters more
Nothing in life matters more than you
When first feelings fade
I will still be here
Till the steady, beating is shut out
Beating is
For I know the truth of my perception
Nothing in life matters more
Nothing in life matters more than you
When first feelings fade
I will still be here
