All That Remains

Bolt Thrower

All that remains Of your dying world Lies crumbling, twisted ruins From the ashes - none will returnDieShattered dreams forgotten Body writhes in agony Death bringing release now From futile destinyThrough wreckage still burning You look for signs of life Find only rotting bodies Scream in despair for mankindDieRealise it's no illusion Only you remain Smashed and torn reality Now face unbearable painAs the sun sets you are alone In this world of destruction Alone you must face this grim reality Of life, or death
