Sum 41

Can't step in the way
Head first in your love and dismay
It's like beating the dead, I can't stop going out of my head
(I guess that's how it is)
Whatever this could be, I'll never know
I never said it'd be the end all to be all I hate you today
I can't find a way
Don't drag me down now Goodbye, I've had enough frustration
I won't get stuck
Goodbye, this dead-end situation
Is just not worth my time It's no better today
I never thought it would end up this way
You've got something to say
(You've got something to say)
Don't wanna hear it if it gets in my way All this confusion, wondering, so overwhelmed
[Unverified] seems so clear
Can't find conclusion, disappointing evolution
Not all things are what they appear So what's the point of this hell
I know you too well
We're running backwards Goodbye, I've had enough frustration
I won't get stuck
Goodbye, this dead-end situation
Is just not worth my time All waiting, so frustrating
I'm so sick of all this tension, not to mention
I'm so sick of Can't take it, ya won't make it
Just save yourself this struggle
Can't do this, fight for yourself
'Cause I'm just fine You speak for all of us
When you can't be heard
I'll bet you haven't listened
To not one word You speak for all of us
When you can't be heard
I'll bet you haven't listened
To not one word Goodbye, I've had enough frustration
I won't get stuck
Goodbye, this dead-end situation
Is just not worth my time All waiting, so frustrating
I'm so sick of
All this tension, not to mention

I'm so sick of, sick of you
