

Lost

Ratham Stone

I don't think you understand how much
I tried to keep the thoughts of you untouched
I don't think we'll have a chance to run
Before the wars, the lies and storms are done

No one has to find out where we're gonna go
I could scream it out loud and they'll never know

We could be sailing away, across the Atlantic
Where the fog makes a wall, with no sights of landing
Stranded, Standing on top of a mountain
The sun and the seas or the birds in between
When were lost

Honey we can make this work
A truth will come that's so much worse
Let's stay wide awake cause if we're sleeping
We're wasting time unless we're dreaming

No one has to find out where we're gonna go
I could scream it out loud and they'll never know

We could be sailing away, across the Atlantic
Where the fog makes a wall, with no sights of landing
Stranded, Standing on top of a mountain
The sun and the seas or the birds in between
When were lost

I'm a million miles away
Alone watching the sunset
Alone watching these stars
Alone I'm here forever
You'll never be to far
I'm a million miles away
Alone watching the sunset
Alone watching the sunset

We could be sailing away, across the Atlantic
Where the fog makes a wall, with no sights of landing
Stranded, Standing on top of a mountain

The sun and the seas or the birds in between
When were lost
