

You Made Me See

Stefanie Heinzmann

Looking up at these clouds
Staring at my own face
Counting raindrops
Falling down Longed for a deeper connection
That I did not know was in front of me
Your love caused a chain reaction
And now I'm breaking free Even if you always knew
But didn't dare to set things in motion
What I want is here with you
To take a chance at love's devotion
Now I wanna fly into this open breeze
I must have been so blind
But you, you made me see All my doubts, all my fears
They went up and disappeared
You have replaced them
With your heart
Now that I know your intentions
I think it's time that you hear me say
Way past an honorable mention
That my love is yours today
