Living Just For You

Hot Tuna

I've waited all my lifetime, for a moment like today
Our love is really real and really here to stay
And now, I know what's happening to start anew
I've been living lately just because of youPeople on the sidewalks of the city pass me by
They don't know how high we fly
Now I know I've found, in the world all around
It fills the sounds of smiling from the heavens to the ground
Takes a long time to be free, I want you there with meDon't wanna live my life away without you
That kind of living now just won't do
There's been too much wasted time feeling blue
In the morning when you rise, that sparkle in your eyes
Reminds me that I'm living just for youDon't wanna live my life away without you
That kind of living now just won't do
There's been too much wasted time feeling blue
In the morning when we rise, that sparkle in your eyes
Reminds me that I'm living just for you
