

The Vigour

Alpine

A pebble, a bone, a sigh and such
Can all become unnerving when one is succumb
To the vigor of fear
Reckless as, it feeds on the young
Fear, fear in myself evoking thought
Why all just seems so unfathomable
A sword in my breast, twice kissed in protest
Why all just seemed so unfathomable
Yet totally real
Fear, fear in myself
Fear, fear in myself evoking thought
Why all just seems so unfathomable
