My Home

Elektrochemie

This place is many things but I'd never call it home
It's just a building in a city everywhere I go
This place is many things but I can't call it home
Home is the place you are and I just wanna let you know
That I've done a few things I wasn't proud of
Might have said a few things that hurt you
But you're still the only one who fills me up
And every night spent alone was worth it
And you are my home, you are my everything
When I feel so alone
You are my home, you are my shelter
When all my hope is gone
And I've seen many things but they don't look like home
They're just the bright lights from a city glowing all night long
And I've seen many faces but they all look the same
Home is the place you are and I just wanna let you know
That I've done a few things I wasn't proud of
Might have said a few things that hurt you
But you're still the only one who fills me up
And all the tears that we've shared were worth it
You are my home, you are my everything
When I feel so alone
You are my home, you are my shelter
When all my hope is gone
You are my home, you are my everything
When I feel so alone
You are my heart, you are the one
When it all comes undone
When it all comes undone
When it all comes undone
When it all comes undone
When it all comes undone
You are my home, you are my everything
When I feel so alone
You are my home, you are my shelter
When all my hope is gone
You are my home, you are my everything
When I feel so alone
You are my heart, you are the one

When it all comes undone
