Midnight Strikes

Madcap

Midnight strikes but I can't close my eyes
These dreams of mine keep me sweating all night
It's hard to see this gift run away from me
Like water down the drain you watch it slip awayDaylight is closing in on me
It's closing in on me
It's closing in on meLife brings another day
For some sunlight, others rain
What will it hold for me
There's hope my cards have not been seenYou know your heart will carry you through
It's all you need and all you ever will
And when the rain comes falling at night
You'll find it warm wherever you feel rightWhere you feel right
When midnight strikesA bright light shines
Through a crack in a well closed blind
And so the sun reminds
To all those counting timeStart over again
Watch the sun fall from the sky
When the smallest noise seems loud
You'll know midnight's struckYou know your heart will carry you through
It's all you need and all you ever will
And when the rain comes falling at night
You'll find it warm wherever you feel rightAnd when it's falling down upon your head now
You'll find me there with cover drawn
So close your eyes 'cause night is on the way now
And you lie awake when midnight strikes again

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/