Thunder

Insan3lik3 & Richard Caddock

And I've been thinking of spending my time
While you've been working west of the sunshine
Going through the phase of cloudy days
That pass us by sometimes
A million risks but you fought back with thunder
Broke the scars that touched your skin
Hold me up like a prism and watch my colors paint the water
The sun will start sinking in
I knew your dreams were real before
They came alive and when I lit up
I knew your dreams were real before
They came true, they came true
Down the streets you've seen worlds that look the same
But they go by different names
And I have met those skies, they make us more than what we seem
In places we've never been
With a million risks but you fought back with thunder
Broke the scars that touched your skin
Hold me up like a prism and watch my colors paint the water
The sun will start sinking in
I knew your dreams were real before
They came alive and when I lit up
I knew your dreams were real before
They came true, they came true
I knew your dreams were real before
They came alive and when I lit up
I knew your dreams were real before
They came true, they came true
I knew your dreams were real before (I knew it baby)
They came alive and when I lit up (We lit up the whole sky)
I knew your dreams were real before
They came true, they came true
