

Better Than You

Moist

I've sold out every memory I have borrowed
I had bought from you
These pictures run like water to dilute me
Lay me over you And I thought that this would be so right And everyone and everyone
Is better than you I've felt each slow perversion fosters
Dying killed the truth in me
Gone quietly gone completely cold reminder what
You tried to be And I knew that this would be so right And everyone and everyone
Is better than you And it's hard and it's hated
And it's hard
And if so and if so And everyone and everyone
Is better than you
