

Baby Blue

The New York Room

as I gaze
I cannot decide
the calming waves
the tender tide
cool and blue the water round and blue the sky
to which do we aspire?
should we swim,
or should we fly (x2)
we will let your kiss
for us decideshould we ride
the butterfly
stirring in the breeze
or drink the tears
the seahorse cries
softly from her cheeks dare we climb or merely cry no promises no wrong or right
on borrowed wings
of falcon flight
close and cold the waves the sky so far and wide from what is it we hide
should we swim
or should we fly (x2)
we will let your kiss
for us decideshould we ride
the butterfly
stirring in the breeze
or drink the tears
the seahorse cries
softly from her cheeks dare we climb
or merely cry

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>