For what its worth

The Cardigans

The best has yet to come!
All damage has been done
And we have just begun to see what we've become
And I can't help but see a need to turn this all around
And lift ourselves up from the ground
Because for what it's worth
We can not go unsoundAnd for far too long we've we been fighting more than singing along
Let a new dawn arise, let us open our eyes
To something new, a new born youth
An untold truth, there's no excuse
For there's no use to explain our self abuseWe have so much more to give
We are the alternative
And our voices will rise - Rise! Rise in Unison!!
We have yet to begin
We cannot let ourselves wear thin
And for what it's worth our resolve will not see its endWe have so much more to give
We are the alternative
And our voices will rise in unison
We have yet to begin
We cannot let ourselves wear thin
And for what it's worth our resolve will not see its end (x2)

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/