

Last Few Words

Hawthorne Heights

I'll take control if you'll let me
Just promise you won't forget these last few words
I'll take it slow and gentle
As long as you remember these last few words
Just one more reason to hate this all again
Just one more way to make it through the day
Let's make this nice and easy
Just swear that you'll never leave me
Until I'm just a ghost
All this business is so painful
Maybe I'm just too sentimental
With all this lack of being close to home
Just one more reason to hate this all again
Just one more way to make it through the day
I know you feel so tired of all these arguments
Just one more reason to call this all the end
Look into my eyes and watch me burning bright
Look into my eyes and watch me burn tonight
Remember these last few words
Remember these last few words
Just one more reason to hate this all again
Just one more way to make it through the day
I know you feel so tired of all these arguments
Just one more reason to call this all the end
Just one more reason to hate this all again
Just one more way to make it through the day
I know you feel so tired of all these arguments
Just one more reason to call this all the end

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>