Tranquility

As the sun would set
We hang down at the beach
She kicked off her shoes and felt the warmth of the sand upon her feet
There was a cool breeze you had your favorite sweater on Sadly, everything I thought be to true turned out to be wrongTake a picture of the past
Do you see?
An old photograph of what used to be
it was you and me Where did you go?
and why'd you have to be so far away
I remember the days
That you loved me
But everlasting change and eventually We all have to go our separate ways
I wish that I could just go back to the better daysTake a picture of the past
Do you see?
An old photograph of what used to be
it was you and meIts been a while since I've last seen your face and I'm stuck here with all these memories
