Nothing Ordinary

Lucius

Little bird flying in the breeze flying above the trees he's crying
Because the wind is thick letting off a sour trick from the smoky fumes of fireand there is nothing ordinary nothing ordinary nothing ordinary here and there is nothing ordinary nothing ordinary nothing ordinary hereCattlefields spread across the landfills pockets full of cheap thrills who's counting We've been milking it for it's worth how's about a rebirth plant a seed and watch it growCHORUSYou can't paint another one you can't glue it back together
you can't paint another one
you can't glue it back together you can't glue it back together once its goneMan cannot run this place alone but when nature intervenes he'll keep trying new is in, out with all the old just watch us make the bed we'll lie in CHORUS
