Clover

Devin Dennis

I don't know where we went wrong, I thought we were fine all along, but I guess not. And now I'm trying to find exactly where we went blind to the problem. Where I lost him. Cause now we're slamming our doors saying "I can't take anymore" didn't expect that. Just take it all back cause now there's no you and me and I just cannot believe that it's over. He was my lucky clover. So now I'm pacing the floor thinking I could've done more to avoid this. But it's just so hard to see the future you with no me so cut me some slack. Can't handle all that. Cause now there's slamming our doors, saying; "I can't take anymore." Didn't expect that. Just take it all back. Cause now there's no you and me and I just cannot believe that it's over. He was my lucky clover. (Clover, clover, clover) Oooooooh ooooh ooooh ooooh ooooh ooooh ooooh ooooh. So I dropped off the last of your stuff at your front door today. Saying; "This time I know for sure, you will forget me. No more memories." And so when I turn around and I stopped looking down and I saw you. And you said; "I hate the sound of those doors, so let's not slam them anymore. I didn't know that I need you so bad. I can't see you with no me, so I refuse to believe that it's over. So be my lucky clover." 'I hate the sound of those doors so let's not slam them anymore I didn't know that I need you so bad. I can't see you with with no me, so I refuse to believe that it's over. He was my lucky clover.' (Clover, clover, clover)

Lyrics Submitted by Allyssabeth Isabella Elliott

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/