

Starting Now

Chuck Wicks

Id give anything to go back
Do anything to go there
To take my breath away again I still see her face right there
Starin at me, and I swear
I can feel you here When I close my eyes
I know I should drop everything
And run straight back to your side Maybe I should take a bus ride
Maybe I should put this car in drive
And go find the love that we both used to know Maybe I can find the one way
Maybe youll forgive me someday
No red light stopping me, nothing gonna slow me down
Starting now Every step, every turn that I take Every fall, every move that I make Brings me closer to you If the day is done and I haven't found you
Ill take my love and I'll turn around
Go down another road and try again, try again Maybe I should take a bus ride
Maybe I should put this car in drive
And go find the love that we both used to know Maybe I can find the one way
Maybe youll forgive me someday
No red light stopping me, nothing gonna slow me down
Yeah, starting now I'm gonna find a new way to love you
I'm gonna find the one way to hold you
'Cause I just cant stay, sitting around
Waiting on love to come back around, back around Maybe I should take a bus ride
Maybe I should put this car in drive
And go find the love that we both used to know Maybe I can find the one way
Maybe youll forgive me someday
No red light stopping me, nothing gonna slow me down Yeah, no red light stopping me, never gonna slow me down
Starting now, yeah, starting now I'm heading for you, baby, starting now
I'm gonna find you, baby, starting now
Heading for you, heading for you now
Heading for you, Im heading for you now
