

Estate (Summer)

Eliane Elias

In summer...I miss you more than any other season my heart has lost all thought of rhyme or reason without you it's like winter in my heartIn summer...the memory of things we did together is stronger than the trials we had to weather without you,i feel winter in my heartit's the end of life daydream like plucking all the petals from the roses like burying all the secrets love discloses like stopping songs of birds before they startIn summer...when once again feel that old desire as you return to set my soul on fire Please darling, take the winter from my heart(second bridge) I feel you always near me in every song the morning breeze composes in all the tender wonder of the roses each time the setting sun shines on the seaIn summer... and when you sleep beneath your snowy cover I'll keep you in my heart just like a lover and wait until you come again to me
